Update for information

Section 2 – Report

Health Protection is a core function of public health practice. It covers a number of different elements that protect individuals, groups and populations from single cases of infectious disease, incidents and outbreaks, and non-infectious environmental hazards such as chemicals and radiation.

The UK Health Security Agency (UKHSA), an executive agency, sponsored by the Department of Health and Social Care, is responsible health protection. It provides intellectual, scientific and operational leadership at national and local level, as well as on the global stage, to make the nation's health secure.

UKHSA has a number of Health Protection Teams (HPTs) that provide support on a subregional basis. The North West London team, based in Colindale, covers the Harrow and the other 7 boroughs in Northwest London.

HPTs provide support to health professionals, including:

- local disease surveillance
- alert systems
- investigating and managing health protection incidents
- national and local action plans for infectious diseases

This update will be provided to the H&W Board by North West London Health Protection Team on communicable diseases and an overview of health protection activities.

The data will not be circulated prior to the meeting as we wish to present the most up to date picture.

Financial Implications/Comments

Funding of health protection teams comes from UKHSA.

Local health protection activities are funded through the public health grant or in the case of investigations of outbreaks requiring environmental investigation, through the Council environmental health budget.

Legal Implications/Comments

The local authority has statutory duties for public health services under the Health and Social Care Act 2012 legislation including the duty to improve public health risk management implications.

The terms of reference of the Health and Wellbeing Board include improving health and wellbeing for the residents of Harrow.
